

Hello, HFCC Online Student:

Welcome to History 244: "Sea Power." This course is 100% online. That means you will attend classes via the Internet. My name is Dennis Ringle and I am the instructor for this course. You will communicate with me via email (djringl@henryford.ucompass.com), telephone, (734-586-6373) and/or course discussion board. It is not necessary to visit HFCC's campus to complete this course. You may schedule on-campus office visits with me if there is a need, however, this is not required.

An online course requires a certain level of commitment and self-discipline from you, the learner. To succeed you must participate in the course on a regular basis. Put time aside each week, just as you would if you were attending classes on campus, to attend your online course and complete the necessary work. It is very difficult to do well if you get behind.

If you're not sure you're ready for the commitment of an online course take the self-test on the HFCC Ucompass login page, <http://henryford.ucompass.com>. Click the Student Resources link and then click "Is online for you?" to learn if your learning style and self-discipline is suited for online learning.

There are certain technical requirements for success in this course. You are responsible for the necessary hardware and software, as well as the ability to competently use both. You must have access to a computer with a CD-ROM drive. You must be able to access the Internet. To ensure that your computer is ready for online learning click "PC Requirements" in the Student Resources section of the Ucompass login page, <http://henryford.ucompass.com>. The Technology Analysis at the bottom of the page will evaluate your computer to make sure you have the necessary software applications to access the course content. If you do not have the correct version of an application there is a link to a free upgrade page.

Should you need Technical Support with your Ucompass course click the Tech Support link on the Ucompass login page. Call the support numbers listed or submit your issue via e-mail and you will receive a timely response.

How your online course works:

The web address for your online course is: <http://henryford.ucompass.com> You will not have access to your online course until the first day of regular classes for the semester.

Log into Ucompass using your WebAdvisor username and the four-digit mmdd of your birth as your password (if your birthday is July 4, your password would be 0704). If you do not know your WebAdvisor username find it through the HFCC website <http://www.hfcc.edu>. Click the blue WebAdvisor box, then click the link for Students and follow the prompts to display your username.

Each time you enter the course you will see the Announcements page. Review this page regularly for new course information.

Each week you will receive a new assignment in the form of a packet in the Course Materials section of your course. This packet will contain instructions for completing weekly assignments. Each weekly assignment will include: 1) textbook readings, 2) learning objectives for the week, 3) a Critical Thinking Essay, 4) discussion board postings, and 5) practice activities. You will have one (1) week to complete the assignments. All assignments will be due no later than Tuesday morning at 9:00 AM.

It is your responsibility to keep up with the readings and the course work. After the due date has past and the new packet for the upcoming week is made available to you on Monday morning, you will no longer have access to the previous week's packet of information or be able to submit late work.

The first text book for this course is Sea Power: A Naval History (2nd edition), by E.B. Potter (Naval Institute Press). The second text is A Sailors History of the U.S. Navy by Thomas Cutler (Naval Institute Press)). The third text is Decision at Sea: Five Naval Battles that Shaped American History by Craig Symonds (Oxford Press). You may purchase these texts through the HFCC bookstore in person or online. To order online visit the College Store web site: <http://collegestore.hfcc.edu/>

You will get from the class exactly what you put into it. Contact me at any time with any questions or concerns you have (YOUR_USER_NAME@henryford.ucompass.com). Communication is absolutely essential in an online course. Email, post, or call...just communicate! The only stupid question is the one you don't ask! So ask questions any time you have them!

Best wishes and welcome aboard History 244, Sea Power,

Dennis J. Ringle
