

WELCOME TO PSYCHOLOGY 131!

I will be your instructor for Psychology 131, Intro Psychology. If you have any questions, be sure to contact me BUT FIRST to access your online course please type into your web browser <http://henryford.ucompass.com>. Instructions for your access and password will be available on the first page under the left hand side heading of “Online Orientation” and “Login Information”.

There will be 13 tests, one each week, along with a discussion posting each week. There is also a comprehensive final and two papers (critical thinking exercises). To access each week’s assignments click on the blue link to the left which says “course materials.” Click on the blue link labeled “packet.” Every Monday a new packet will open at about 8 am. Inside the packet there is a link labeled “instructions.” It will contain what you need to complete for the particular week. There are also some supplemental materials which I strongly suggest you read to round out your experience in the class. Again Welcome to Psychology!

Have a great semester!
