XIII. Assessment of Academic Achievement

Assessment methods for this course include weekly assignments, discussion board activities, a written autobiography, three written competency statements, collection of resource file items, and a year end project.

XIV. Participation and Drop Policy

Attendance is mandatory. If you must miss a class, you are responsible for getting notes and handouts from a classmate. A second absence will result in a lower grade and will result in a makeup assignment in order to receive the full hourly credit for the course. Late arrivals are disruptive to the class and should be avoided. Two late arrivals will count as one absence.

All assignments are due as indicated. Grades will be lowered by 10% for each class after the assigned due date. For extenuating circumstances arrangements must be made with the instructor.

Class participation is expected and is part of your grade.

College level writing is expected on all written assignments. You may be asked to work with the Learning Lab if assignments need grammatical assistance. Please proofread your work carefully. Spelling and grammar errors will lower your grade.

Please respect the confidentiality of all children, families, and staff in your program.

Cell phones and pagers must be turned off during class.

No visitors (child or adult) are allowed during the class, there are no exceptions.

Drop/Incomplete Policy: Students may choose to drop a class without the instructor's permission up through the tenth week of the semester. After the tenth week, only the instructor can drop a student. Students who stop attending class without requesting a drop will receive an E.

XV. Online Conduct Policy

A. Students at HFCC are expected to show respect for order, law, the personal rights of others, the educational mission of the College, as well as maintain standards of personal integrity.

B. Students working online will be held to the same behavioral standards as students in traditional classrooms. Please be aware that I will be observing your threaded discussions with each other, and I will review those discussions, commenting where appropriate with the goal of helping you to better understand the course content. Specifically, you should adhere to the following guidelines:

Personal correspondence should be conducted elsewhere

Treat and respect others as you would like to be treated

"Flaming", any angry series of words or comments use to personally attack others who may disagree with you is not permitted.

Take time to review the tone, language, word choice, spelling, and grammar of any written correspondence prior to sending it. You will be judged by the quality of your work.

HFCC's computer use policy is in effect. It can be found at <http://www2.hfcc.edu/resources/policy.htm>.

Students are responsible for completing their own online course work.

XVI. Academic Dishonesty

Henry Ford Community College considers academic dishonesty to be a serious offense. It is the policy of the College that determination of and appropriate action in respect to academic dishonesty by a student shall be a matter of individual judgment by the instructor. The instructor may administer a penalty up to and including failure in the particular course. It is the professional obligation of the faculty to enforce academic integrity in their courses.

Academic dishonesty is any activity intended to improve a student's grade fraudulently.* It includes, but is not limited to, the following:

1. Unauthorized acquisition of tests or alteration of grades (such as the stealing of tests, test keys, or grade books from faculty offices or elsewhere, or the purchasing of tests or grade books);

2. Unauthorized use of notes, books, or other prohibited materials during an examination;
3. Open cheating on an examination (such as copying from another student's paper);
4. Permitting another person to take a test in the student's place or receiving unauthorized assistance with any work for which academic credit is received;
5. Providing unauthorized assistance with any work for which academic credit is received;
6. Revision of graded work in an attempt to receive additional credit fraudulently;
7. Plagiarism (using another person's work without acknowledgment);

8. Any other conduct intended to obtain academic credit fraudulently or dishonestly.

If an instructor fails a student in a course for academic dishonesty, the instructor must immediately notify in writing the student and the registrar of the infraction, retaining copies of both notifications.

The registrar maintains a record of all such violations. If a student fails two classes as a result of academic dishonesty, he or she is dismissed from the College for two academic years. In addition, a notation of the reason for academic dismissal is placed on the student's transcript. The notation may be expunged at the discretion of the appropriate vice president if the student petitions for its removal after at least two years have elapsed since the disciplinary action.

If a student believes that the accusation is false, he or she may appeal through the Student Complaint Procedure. If the appeal reaches the Student Complaint Board, the Board may consider only whether the charge is justified. The Board may not set aside or change the penalty given by the instructor unless the charge of academic dishonesty is set aside.

*Any action that violates the Student Conduct Policy and Due Process Procedure is also subject to review under that policy.
