

Testing Your Enrolled Hardware Token

Once your token is enrolled, you can verify that the token works properly with the authentication system. Login back into the Enrollment Portal and select the “My Hardware Token” (or whatever name you choose for the token). On the next screen, select the “Test Method” button.

The browser will prompt you to insert your token (or bring it near) and touch the token to satisfy the request (Microsoft Windows 11 example shown below).

If it is successful, the following will be seen:

This indicates a successful test of the FIDO token.
